

TO START WORK
ON RE-SURFACE OF LARRAWAY RD

Bids have been let to the National Stone Co. for 32,200 tons of stone which will be used for re-surfacing 1 3/4 miles of road in Frankfort township between Route 45 and the New Lenox township road called the Larraway road. This is the road that passes the Hinspeter school south of Frankfort. Work on this will be started at once. This is being paid for out of gasoline taxes. Just a top dressing is to be added to this road.

Henry Yunker, of Mokena, is highway commissioner for Frankfort township.

In New Lenox township the people have been seeking to replace the Kessel bridge, south of New Lenox, which is right on the county line of New Lenox and Manhattan township. The bridge is in a very precarious condition, dangerous for heavy traffic, especially in times of high water, which would tend to weaken the abutments.

New Lenox township and highway commissioner Will Hafke have been anxious for several years to replace this bridge and have been willing to pay their half of it. They have been hoping that Manhattan would pay the other half so the bridge could be replaced. If this is agreeable to Manhattan the job could be done this year.

New Lenox has not done anything with their gas tax this year for road improvement, hoping to use the money towards replacement of this dangerous bridge. After the bridge is built what money is left of the gas tax for New Lenox would be used for re-surfacing the Larraway road in New Lenox which connects the one which Frankfort township is now resurfacing.

Robert Seeley is highway commissioner in Manhattan.

Name Dates For Registration at Orland High School

The class schedules of students who registered last spring at Consolidated High School, District 230, Orland Park, are completed. In all cases the students were granted the courses for which they signed up with the exception of those upper classes who failed one or more courses. Those students who failed in any course are to report to the school office to have their schedules revised.

In addition, any student living in District 230 (Orland and Palos Townships) who has not registered, is requested to report to the school office to do so immediately. It is imperative that this be done so that the limit on the size of any class does not exceed 30 students, and so that the bus routes can be properly planned.

The parents of each student have received a copy of the class for which their son or daughter signed up. Should there be any questions about these courses or any other matters pertaining to school next fall, Mr. Davidson will be in the school office at the following times: each school day from 8:00 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. and in addition, he will be present from 7:00 p.m. until 9:00 p.m. on Friday, July 24, Monday, July 27, and Thursday, July 30. In order to plan for the next school year, all registrations should be made no later than Friday, July 31. Minor questions may be answered by calling Orland 51.

The number of students who have registered thus far are:

Freshmen, 131; Sophomores, 64

More than 40,000,000 people visited national parks last year and the figure is expected to go higher in 1953 as America prepares to spend a whopping nine billion dollars on motoring vacations. As another indication of the tremendous popularity of mobile vacations, 28 states now rank tourist receipts among their three top industries. New Mexico and New Jersey place it first.

Plant Food Produces Three-to-One Return in Higher Crop Value

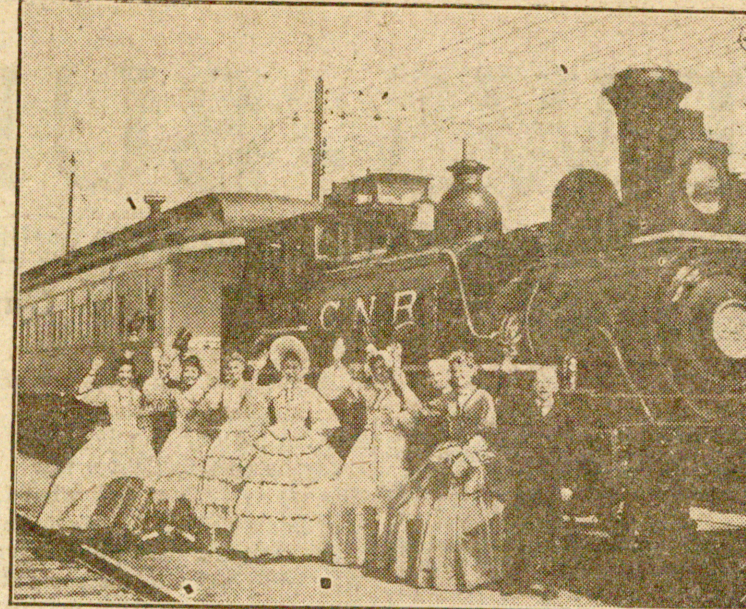

DR. GARTH VOLK, chairman of Ohio State University's agronomy department, reports that every dollar a farmer invests in fertilizer returns him $3 in increased crop value from higher yields. "That's a good trade," he said. "If you give you a $2 profit for every dollar you spend, I'd like to deal with a bank on that basis." Volk reports that last year Ohio farmers bought about $50 million worth of fertilizer. He estimates that this outlay returned $150 million to the state's farmers. "Now you subtract $50 million from that total," he said, "and it gives Ohio farmers a $100 million net profit just for the simple operation of applying fertilizer to their land." Volk summed up the value of plant food when he said: "A farmer cannot afford not to use fertilizer to obtain high crop yields these days."

Battle for Top Spots in Midget Races in Joliet

Ken Rubright, the Lyndon, Ill. racer that's winning more and more popularity with the fans, will try to put some distance between himself and the rest of the field in the point standing in the midget auto racing program Saturday night at Joliet Memorial Stadium.

Rubright, who was one of the top racers on the Joliet oval last year, took over the first place in the standings two weeks ago when he passed Earl Iverson of Chicago.

Right now, the battle for top position in the point standings is developing into a five way affair between Rubright, Tony Lenti, Willie Wilson, and Iverson of Chicago, and Sonny Besette of Joliet.

Heavy rains Friday and Saturday cancelled the regularly scheduled program, and made it impossible for the midget cars to run on the clay oval on the usual Sunday night rain date. Included on Saturday's program are four 10 lap heat races, a six lap trophy dash, 15 lap semi-feature and 25 lap feature. Time trials start at 7:30 p.m. and the first race at 8:30 o'clock.

NEED TO FIND MORE CORN STORAGE SPACE

Farmers are warehousemen in 33 northern Illinois counties are being asked to help find storage for nearly 17 million bushels of corn. This is that part of 77 million bushels of the 1952 crop under government loan which is stored on farms.

L. F. Stice, University of Illinois farm economist, says this corn becomes the property of the Commodity Credit Corporation on July 31 unless the farmers either redeem it or seal it for another year.

Legally, Stice says, the CCC is obligated to accept the corn and move it off the farms. But in some areas there isn't any place to move it.

The PMA will move some bins into the shortage areas, and some corn will be moved into other areas. But this is costly and takes time, Stice says. If farmers can provide the extra storage, they can earn about 13 cents a bushel for re-sealing the corn for another year. Some farmers have the storage space. Those who don't have Stice says, can finance new storage through the PMA if credit is not available otherwise. The third way farmers can provide space is by using temporary cribs for the part of this year's crop that will be fed early. Some grain dealers will have space, too, Stice says. But a warehouseman needs to be approved by PMA before he can store grain under government

Jack Smith Elected
Cook Co. Council
Legion Commander

Jack Smith is the newly elected Commander of the Cook County Council of the American Legion which represents over 85,000 Legionnaires. Smith succeeds Irving Breakstone, a Chicago lawyer who did a superb job in the capacity of Cook County Council Commander.

In the past year "Jack," as he is known to thousands of Legionnaires, was Senior Vice Commander of the Council and, in 1951-52, was Junior Vice Commander. Just recently he was appointed assistant to Col. Charles Baron of the Baron Force Agency at 39th and Michigan Ave.

Jack served as Commander of the Illinois Central Post No. 241 in 1945. Past Commander of the Third District in 1951, he has been a member of The American Legion for 33 years.

For the past 12 years Council Commander Smith has been Chairman of Selective Service Draft Board No. 66, and lives on Chicago's South side at 8418 S. Ingleside with his wife Pearl.

A veteran of World War I with over a year and a half's service to his credit, Jack spent 10 months overseas.

He has held all offices within his Post and the Third District. As you can see by his marvelous Legion record, in the person of Jack Smith the 85,000 Legionnaires he represents can be justly proud of having elected such a fine man to be their leader. Jack also served, in 1952-53 as Chef de Gare of the Forty and Eight, Voiture 220, and brought its membership up to its all time high during his term of office.

Heat and Humidity Help Crops Along

The hot, humid weather which has caused so much discomfort this summer has its good points, even though they may not be apparent to anybody except farmers. Oats are two weeks ahead of normal schedule. Farmers in this area started combining Saturday, and threshing is going on this week.

Corn is in excellent condition right now, exceptionally tall for this date, with heavy stalks, good color and growing fast. Yes sir, it looks like we're going to have a fine crop.

Elaine Anderson (left) and Janet Hoffman find it difficult to believe that anyone could have flown a Curtiss Pusher, an exact scale model replica of which is shown here. As young present day model plane fliers who hope to compete in the Plymouth Motor Corporation's Seventh International Model Plane Contest, they are amazed at the extreme design changes in the past 50 years. The International will pay tribute to the 50th Anniversary of the Wright brothers' original flight when 500 of the top model plane fliers assemble in Detroit August 19 through 24.

In contrast, her modern granddaughter uses electrical "servants" to do tedious household chores. She pushes a button or turns a dial to cool or heat the house, cook a meal, wash the laundry and grind the garbage. Included in her all-electric kitchen is a dishwashing machine, pioneered by Hotpoint in Grandmother's day, which auto-

WILL COUNTY FAIR TO BE
AUG. 28, 29, 30

Dates as announced by Clarence Cann, president of the Will County fair to be held at Peotone, are Friday, Saturday and Sunday, August 28, 29 and 30. The event will take place at the fairgrounds in Peotone, and will be the biggest and best ever held, members of the Will County Fair association promise. This will be the 50th annual presentation.

The greatest number of hogs, sheep, cattle, horses and other livestock entries are expected this year. Paid attendance at the fair, which last year reached a record of 11,767 persons, is expected this year to reach 18,000 persons.

Robert Klipp, association secretary, said "We are using every effort to obtain the finest entertainment fairgoers ever have seen. There will be at least two performances of a rip-snorting rodeo, complete with bronc riding, steer throwing, and other western skills. Homer and Jethro, beloved stars of the comedy music field, will be at the fair in person, and dozens of other equally exciting and entertaining features are being planned."

Klipp urged Will county residents to arrange "fair parties" for their friends and relatives in Chicago or other sections of Cook county. It will increase local residents' pleasure at the fair, he said, and also will offer their out of town friends an opportunity to see real farm festivity.

"Pack a lunch, and plan to spend the day," he invited. "There's too much to see to do it in an hour or two. The fair grounds offer many shady spots for enjoying a picnic, and cold drinks are available on the grounds. Bring the children and plan a real old fashioned day at the fair, he said.

Your STATE of Health
ROLAND B. CROSS, M.D. Director
Illinois Department of Public Health

SANITATION SEASON
With warm spring days in the offing, emphasis on home sanitation again becomes increasingly important.

At this season of the year, your state health department puts special emphasis on spring clean-up, designed primarily for the two-fold purpose of elimination and control of flies and rats.

These two health hazards can be controlled only through sanitary practices. Places where they feed and breed and rest must be destroyed and kept eliminated.

Disease Spreaders
The common house fly has demonstrated its versatility in spreading more than 20 human diseases. Some of the more serious are typhoid fever, diarrhea, tuberculosis, cholera and dysentery. Rats and mice have been implicated in the spread of 20 to 30 diseases.

It is plain to see, therefore, that your health, the health of your family and your community depends in good measure upon your maintenance of a clean, fly and rat-free premises.

Sanitation is largely a personal matter. It is a way of life expressed in clean and healthful surroundings.

The Clean-up
In a sanitary clean-up the necessities of livelihood of flies and rats are removed. Garbage is stored in tightly covered metal cans and disposed of regularly. Rubbish heaps are removed. Dilapidated buildings which serve as harbors for both rats and insects are removed or repaired.

Along with these measures, your home should be properly screened to prevent entry of flies. Any place where a rat might sneak in should be blocked off with hardware cloth or sheet metal.

Spraying to kill flies and poisoning of rats are valuable supplements to the sanitation program, but will not do the elimination job successfully in themselves.

Detailed information on fly control and rat control may be obtained from the Illinois Department of Public Health, Springfield. Available information not only helps the individual to control these pests around his own home but gives information on organizing community-wide control campaigns.

State Secy. Dates To Be Aired On 13 Programs

"You—and Your Secretary of State", a series of thirteen 15-minute radio programs dealing with the duties, responsibilities and services of the office of Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter, is being carried by 15 radio stations in Illinois.

The functions of the various departments of the Secretary of State's office, such as driver licensing, automobile licensing, motor vehicle titles, Illinois

State Library, corporation department, securities department and index department, will be discussed and explained.

Secretary Carpenter will open each of the programs and will introduce the department and unit chiefs who will explain the work of their respective departments. WJOL, Joliet, will be the only station in this area to carry this program. The time has not been announced.

Farmers Who Have Tax Objections Should File Now

Farmer taxpayers who have examined personal property assessments published this month and feel they have grounds for objection should file a written objection with the county board of review by the end of July. This advice was given by Bert

Vandervliet, director of property taxation for the Illinois Agricultural Association, the state wide Farm Bureau organization. "The 1953 assessments are being published by townships during July in practically all counties," Vandervliet reported. "Publication serves as legal notice to the taxpayer." Vandervliet advised farmers to compare their individual 1953 personal property assessments with the figures appearing on their personal property tax schedules. "If any changes were made in the property owner's tax return by the township assessor, or county supervisor of assessment, they will appear in the published list."

Vandervliet points out that if a written objection is not filed, the taxpayer has no other way of getting an adjustment.

"Farmers should also find out from their county treasurer if the published list may be subject to a multiplier," he said.

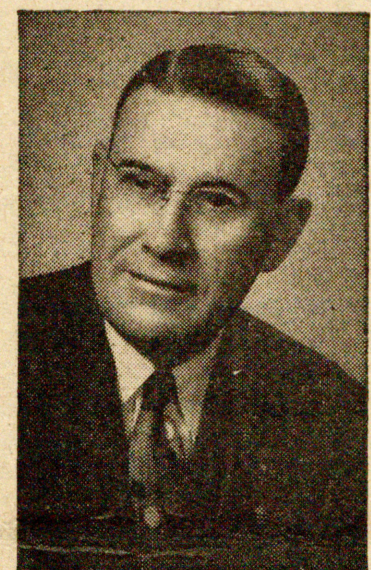

"It's safe to assume that if your county had a multiplier in 1952, the same multiplier will be applied to this year's assessments. If a multiplier is applied, the tax to be paid will be based on a figure perhaps double or triple the published assessment."

Vandervliet says that Illinois farmers in many counties have long been tolerating discriminatory personal property assessments.

"Unit values applied to livestock and grain, in particular, have often resulted in assessment levels higher than the average level of real estate assessments," he said. "This has happened in some counties where practically all tax delinquency comes in incorporated cities and towns."

As a general rule, Vandervliet said, personal property assessments, except for cars and trucks, should not be more than 50 per cent of current market value. And in some counties objections to any assessments of even 25 per cent of market value may be fully justified, he concluded.

LIONS INT'L. ELECTS NEW PRESIDENT

S. A. Dodge, Detroit, Mich. is the new president of the International Association of Lions Clubs, (Lions International). He was elected by unanimous vote at the 36th annual convention of the Association which closed at the Chicago Stadium July 11. Dodge succeeds Edgar M. Elbert Maywood.

The convention concluded the most successful year in the history of Lions International, according to the report made by R. Roy Keaton, Chicago, director general of the association. He reported that during the twelve-month period ended June 30, 1953, there was an addition of 915 new Lions clubs and 26,055 men to the roster of the association, and that the total as of May 31, 1953 is 10,260 clubs and 475,013 members. He stated also that during the fiscal year Lions clubs were established in eight additional countries: Paraguay, Lebanon, Morocco, Scotland, Austria, Luxembourg, Algeria and Liechtenstein. He added that Lions International is the largest, strongest and most active service club organization in the world, with Lions clubs in 4 countries on six continents.

Dodge, in accepting the presidency, said: "Personal integrity codes of honor in our business and professions; a living faith these my friends, are the ideal which I shall always encourage. These are the objectives toward which we shall ever struggle, to the end that in some distant day they may permeate the hearts and minds of all men everywhere and bring about a new day in which men shall bear their swords into plowshares and thoughts of hate, and greed and power shall give way to thoughts of kindness, generosity, and tolerance, that we, in truth may become instruments of His peace, and where there is hate red, we may sow love; where there is injury, pardon; where there is doubt, faith; where there is despair, hope; where there is darkness, light; and where there is sadness, joy. Faith in man—faith in country—faith in God—this down this road we shall eventually find peace on earth."

Dodge was graduated from the University of Michigan School of Business Administration in 1917 and became a Certified Public Accountant in 1922 after having served two years with the Air Force during World War I. He has been financially interested in various business enterprises since that time and is presently vice president and treasurer of Solvent Chemical Products, Inc., Detroit. He is also member of the Board of Directors of several business institutions in Detroit and for many years has been a member of the Board of Management of the Detroit YMCA. He was one of the original incorporators of Leade Dogs for the Blind of Rochester, Michigan.

BAN LIFTED ON HAREM BOOK

LONDON — No banning of "Tisa" in England was the verdict revealed from there by glamorous author Helga Moray. The film and stage star's latest novel has already been published in this country and caused a stir here a month ago in more than literary circles. It is a concubine's "eye-view" of a 16th Century Turkish harem and shows in detail how the Sultan's "favorite" uses her feminine wiles in self-sacrifice to further the growth of the Christian faith. "I researched more than 400 books in libraries in six world capitals," the talented beauty said, "and my facts are right." The facts are so right some English censors felt they should have been "toned down" a bit. Britishers bought 12,500 copies the first three days to find out.

Our Frankfort gals thought the game was "in the bag" after two innings, for they had scored nine runs off the starting pitcher Bonnie Meyer. Edna Mullins was the Matteson catcher. However, Connie Becker came in to pitch in the third and her neat fast ball baffled many of our batters, for the girls only scored five measly runs over the remaining five innings.

LaVerle Mackey, pitching, and Carole Peterson, catching, was Frankfort's starting battery. LaVerle's specialty is a slow ball, and for better strategy, Arleen Flesher (with a fast ball, windmill fashion delivery) came in to pitch in the fourth inning. Matteson's third inning rally of six runs coupled with an eight run spurt in the fifth inning was responsible for Frankfort's loss. The opposition's timely hits sprinkled with several walks and Frankfort's field ing errors gave them the winning combination. On the brighter side, two of the Frankfort girls broke into the home run department, Inez Reiter in the first inning with bases loaded, and Lois Steinbach leading off in the fourth inning. Anna Mae Lackner was busy with the bat also. She had two doubles and a single to her credit. Although we lost, Frankfort's average thus far is still over the .500 mark with a record of three wins and two defeats.

MM POWERFLOW DRIVE—THE SMOOTHEST, MOST EXACTING OF ALL SPEED CONTROLS

Minneapolis-Moline now offers the greatest sensation in combine development—the Self-Propelled Harvester with Powerflow Hydraulic Drive. It gives exactly the right speed with all the power you need for any crop and any field condition. A drive unit so flexible that movement of the control lever instantly regulates the speed from zero m.p.h. to maximum speed in any selected gear without changing engine speed or sacrificing power. Nor does ground speed regulation interfere with the combining mechanism that always runs at uniform speed for the most efficient combining results.

Operating height of header is regulated by new MM smooth-acting Uni-Matic power. The positive, fast acting hydraulic control that is adjustable to any working height and does all the work for you.

MM Model "S" Harvesters may be obtained with the 45-bushel grain tank that can be emptied in approximately one minute with the high speed auger unloader . . . they are also available with the platform and sacking attachment.

Visit us and see the many MM Harvester features that have continued to make combine history since introduced in 1934 on the MM original high-capacity, lightweight combines.

BABSON SAYS—

Copyright —1953—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.
There is no panacea for the labor problem. It began when one man started to work for another. It will continue so long as there is an employer-employee relationship. When I was Assistant Secretary of Labor I was asked to speak on labor problems before a Washington audience. On my way to the appointment I stopped in William B. Wilson's office and asked for some suggestions. He replied: "You might begin by telling them that 100 years from tonight someone will be speaking on the same subject on the same spot."

Profit sharing plans grow with prosperity and decline in periods of depression. Most Profit Sharing Plans are for wages only—are not dependent on the productivity of the workers, but dependent mainly on the ability and generosity of the management. The business boom during and following the first World War brought the profit sharing idea to the notice of the general public. There are numerous Profit Sharing Plans in operation in the United States. Many have prospered because we have had boom business, with increasing profits. The real test will come when earnings decline and when there will be no profits. The recent large earnings of industry have stimulated Labor Union leaders to ask and re-ask for increased wages. Seven rounds have been granted and an eighth round. This demand we are now facing a request to will meet with stronger resistance than previous demands because business is looking ahead to readjustment and lower profits. After all, profit sharing depends on profits—no profits no profit sharing. Labor Union leaders are not asking for profit sharing, but for annual wages and fringe benefits. They realize that fundamentally profits depend on management and business conditions. A business may make a million dollars in one year and fail the next year!

How a business enterprise is managed determines its success or failure. The management must pay the current rate of wages. If it is necessary to borrow money, to increase the plant's facilities so that more labor can be employed, management must pay the current rate of interest on outstanding bonds or else go broke. Management must meet stiff competition for goods produced and is, therefore, restricted as to what is received for commodities produced. Furthermore, a manager must be a business forecaster, expanding facilities when a period of good business is coming, but trimming his sails when a period of readjustment is in the offing. On top of all this, his company must pay heavy taxes. After all these obligations are met, if there is anything left, that is profits. The raw material purchaser is a great factor in determining profits.

It, therefore, is seen that profit sharing rewards depend little upon the wage workers. Such plans are most successful in large business enterprises that are well established and managed, especially if producing a patented product having a continual demand in war or peace. Profit sharing is often hard on small business concerns, because they do not have the reserves to carry them through readjustments or to constantly advertise. Profit sharing is a one-way street. It may act as a wage set active during periods of prosperity and good earnings, but as a source of trouble if a company suffers a loss. Labor is willing to share profits; but is not willing to share losses.

I gave away over one million dollars to my employees from 1913 to 1925. There is no doubt but what the money passed out did a lot of good to the recipients. I am glad that we tried the experiment and gave it a thorough test. Profit sharing was only a part of the program—we really tried industrial democracy. Both came to an unfortunate ending. Since then better plans have been tried by others.

Can Be Godlike

Lesson for July 26, 1953

A MILLION years from now you will still be a human being. Of course you will not be the same kind of human being you are now. If you are a Christian you can hope to be unimaginably more advanced than you are now. But you will never be an angel; still less will you be God. There is room for only one true God; and he will not resign in your favor. And still, it is the Christian faith that we are destined to be Godlike. He created each of us in his image; that is the same as saying that if we follow God's intention we shall be so much like him that others can actually see God in us. If this seems too bold a thought, then remember that Jesus is called in the New Testament the "first-born of many brethren." Paul speaks of growing into Christ—that is, becoming more and more like Christ. And to become Christ-like is to become God-like.

Dr. Foreman

Like Him in Purpose

This is not all something that happens after death. It is expected to begin now and here, in this life, on this earth. Christian life is growing life. Growing "into Christ" means growing "into Christ." Life here and life beyond death are two chapters in the same story, for the Christian. One way we can (and the best Christians do) grow "into the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ" is by becoming more Christlike in our basic purpose in living. Why are we here? is a good question to think over from time to time. Some people can't think of any reason, and so they commit suicide. Others, a step removed from that ultimate despair, cannot see any good reason for existing, but they lack the courage to die; so they drag along from day to miserable day, unable to find any reason either for living or for dying. Others live for a number of different and often conflicting reasons, they live to eat or drink, they live for fame and their names in the papers, they live for Saturday night. Above these are those persons who have consuming ambitions, purposes to which they cling to the bitter end; the Napoleons and Hitlers and Stalins of the world, who know what they want, and get it (for a while) but slaughter millions by their own success. The Christian is one who understands more and more of what Jesus aimed at, and more and more enters into the spirit of Jesus.

Like Him in Power

The Christian grows more God-like not only in purpose but in power. The Christian is not almighty. To all eternity he will be far less than almighty. The Bible gives us no reason to think that a million years from now you will be at all nearer to being able to create even one speck of dust out of nothing, than you are this moment. You will be no nearer having the infinite knowledge and wisdom of the Most High than you are now. Nevertheless, not in the next life but in this one, you should be growing in Godlike power as you grow into the likeness of your Elder Brother. You will not be able to make water run up-hill, to make ice explode or to teach alligators to sing. God does not want you interfering with his world in such fantastic ways. But you will grow in this: You will be more and more able, by the power of His living Spirit in you, to live, to speak, to act, as true sons of the Most High God. You will be less and less that wretched creature, one who knows what is right but can't begin to do it, and more and more one who lives by the power of God.

Like Him in Personality

If Christ came to your town, would he be such a strange personality that everyone would be a little afraid of him, even think him peculiar enough to need treatment in a hospital? This ought not to be so, if you have some real Christians there. For there is a family resemblance between Christ and all those who grow into his likeness. Just as he reminded men of God, so he reminds us of some Christians. If he lived, in modern clothes, in your town, working at carpentry or teaching just as he used to do, people who watched him at work, or listened to him talk, would think of persons they knew and loved.

Timely Tips

There's nothing like a bit of over-the-fence chatter to learn quick tricks for making housekeeping easier. Here are a few that just came our way.

Line your kitchen drawers with plastic fabric. Keeping them clean will be simpler.

Save the paraffin-coated containers from cottage cheese, etc. They come in handy to tote food for family picnics; then throw them away to lessen the load coming home.

Gaily colored foam rubber blocks make wonderful play toys for tots, and they're equally at home in the play pen and bathtub. Should a tossing tantrum come on, no bruises or damage will result—they're safe!

A little baking soda applied with a damp cloth to the bottom of a cool iron will remove starch that has stuck.

Don't remove the heat discoloration from tin cooking pans. Blackened tin heats quicker than shiny tin.

Family guardian

Nobody is ever alone with a telephone in the house. So when you leave your child with a baby sitter, your telephone makes it possible for you to go out with even greater peace of mind. Of course, you have confidence in your sitter. But there's added comfort in knowing that the telephone is on hand, too. If an emergency should arise, a call can quickly put her in touch with you or the other guardians of family safety: your doctor, the police and fire departments.

We've prepared a handy card to help your baby sitter. It has places for all the vital information you'll want to leave with her. With this card, called the "Family Guardian"—the baby sitter's helper, she'll be prepared for anything that might come up. Would you like to have one?

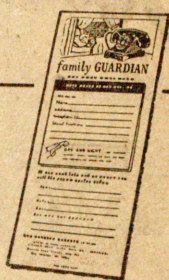

No price can measure its usefulness
